SLAVS FIGHTING IN DESPERATION

Offering Strong Opposition to Huns.

RUMANIANS ARE NOW ACTIVE

Russian Rearguards Are Giving Strong Battle to Advanced Teutons.

On the northern Russian front the Russians are now offering strong opposition to the Germans, who are endeavoring to press their advantage further eastward from the Riga-Dvina line, says an Associated Press dispatch. Thirty-two miles north-east of Riga, near Segevd, "a death battalion" has even defeated the Germans and forced them to retreat to the south, while along the Burtensk line to the Pskoff railroad the Russian rearguards are giving strong battle to the advanced Teuton contingent.

In the Rumanian theater also the Russians and Rumanians again have assumed the offensive, delivering repeated attacks against Teutonic allied positions in the Trotus and Otus valleys. No details of the fighting have come through, except from Berlin, which asserts that the combatants met in hand-to-hand encounters and that the Russo-Rumanian forces were repulsed.

Judge John B. Wilson entertained the members of his Sunday School class, on the lawn of his home, on Union street, Monday afternoon, from 3:30 to 5, with a watermelon and canteloupe feast.

Aside from enjoying the delicious melons, served by the host and his excellent wife, the readings of Misses Winnie Davis Simmerman and Lelia Glenn, were features of a pleasant hour spent by those present.

Among those participating in the feast were: Mesdames Joe Wilson, F. L. Felix, Wilbur Tinsley, J. H. B. Carson, C. M. Barnett, H. E. Mischke, Pen Taylor, C. O. Hunter, J. R. Pirtle, Ed Moore and two children, L. Crabtree; Misses Winnie Davis Simmerman, Lelia Glenn, Elizabeth Moore, Rev. B. W. Napier, Mr. and Mrs. Rowan Holbrook, Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Tapan, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coombs.

REV. NAPIER PREACHES LAST SERMON SUNDAY

Rev. Baxter W. Napier, who has been pastor of the Methodist church here for the past four years, will preach his last sermon Sunday morning. He will go to Hopkinsville the latter part of this month to attend conference, and according to the rules of his denomination, he will be sent to some other place, as he has been here the limit.

Sunday night the service will be somewhat of a review of the work accomplished the past four years, conducted by some of the members, and possibly to map out the work for the coming year. This will be in the nature of a farewell service, and everyone is urged to be present, especially the membership.

Rev. Napier has made many friends while pastor of the Hartford church, who will regret to see him go, but submit to the will of the conference, and congratulate the congregation who is so fortunate as to secure his services.

BOYS CLUB SHOW A GREAT SUCCESS

Large Crowd Attend Exhibit of Farmer Boys.

SOME FINE PIGS IN SHOW

State Agent Nelson Says the Prettiest Bunch of Pigs Seen This Year.

The Ohio County Boys' Agricultural Club exhibited their products on the north side of the square Friday, and it is conceded by everyone that the quality of everything exhibited was fully 50 per cent above that shown last year, which is evidence of the fact that the boys are taking an interest in the club work, which is so zealously pushed by County Agent W. W. Browder.

Mr. B. G. Nelson, State Agent Boys' Clubs, of Hopkinsville, was judge of the show, and he admits that there was about the prettiest bunch of pigs exhibited he had ever seen, and that it was a difficult matter to pin the "blue."

There were 29 pigs exhibited, one Poland China, two Berkshires and twenty-six Durocs. The Poland China won the sweepstakes, being considered by Mr. Nelson as the best pig in the show.

Below is the order in which the prizes were awarded:

DUROCS—Clark Maddox, Beaver Dam, best Duroc pig, $15, by John Allen Wilson.

POLAND CHINA—Fred Deane, Dundee, best Poland China pig, $15, by Squire W. S. Deane.

SWEETSTAKES—Fred Deane, Poland China pig, $5 cash.

Best Pig, 1st choice—Duroc, Paul Maddox, Hartford, Route 4, $4 cash.

Best Pig, 2d choice—Duroc, Lyman Allen, Hartford, Route 5, $1 cash.

Best Pig, 3d choice—Duroc, Wavy Wilson, Olaton, Route 1, $2.50 cash.

Best Pig, 4th choice—Duroc, Kenneth Tinsley, Hartford, Route 5, $2.

Best Pig, 5th choice—Duroc, Geo. Brown, Rockport, $2.50.

Best Pig, 6th choice—Duroc, Otis Maddox, Hartford, Route 4, $2.00.

Best Pig, 7th choice—Duroc, Ray Maddox, Hartford, Route 4, $1.50.

The following boys had pigs in the show that were very fine indeed, and every one of the pigs did honor to the boys who groomed them for the show:

Alney C. Tanner, Hartford, Route 7;

J. C. Lindley, Centertown, Route 1;

Lottie E. Maddox, Hartford, Route 4;

Newcom, Hartford, Route 5; Hannawalt Bennett, Hartford, Route 7; Hubert Bennett, Hartford, Route 7; Siebert D. Mullikin, Beaver Dam, Route 2; Edwin Shaver, Hartford, Route 7.

POULTRY—D. Kell Carson, 1st premium, $4; Raymond Yeiser, 2d premium, $2.50.

POTATOES—Raymond Yeiser, 1st premium, $3; W. R. Carson, Jr., 2d premium, $1.50.

SOY BEANS—Haskell Bennett, 1st premium, $3; John Tanner, 2d premium, $1.50 watch.

The premiums were made up by the following parties: Beaver Dam Deposit Bank, Beaver Dam Milling Co., E. P. Barnes & Bro., Bank of Hartford, Ohio County Fiscal Court, J. C. Iler, J. B. Tapan, Carson & Co., Fair & Co., James H. Williams, John Allen Wilson, H. M. Pirtle, W. S. Dean, Heavrin & Barrass, Rockport Deposit Bank, L. E. Everly, Matanzas.

After the judging of the farm products and pigs was over, and the prize winners announced, through the courtesy of the management of the Star Theater, the boys were admitted to the picture show free.

There were other boys of the club who did not bring their pigs in. The corn and tobacco boys will have their exhibit later.

The son of Isham Horton Luce and Sallie Duke Luce, he lived all his life in Hartford, and the town never had a more loyal citizen. Joining the Baptist church in early manhood, he lived faithfully to his obligations to the end, and was at all times punctual in attendance at Sunday School, of which he was treasurer for eleven years. He was also a charter member of the local tent of Maccabees, and was held in high esteem by the members of this order.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Oma Williams Luce, two sons, William Horton and Robert Ellis, and one sister, Miss Mattie Luce.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church Friday afternoon by Rev. Edgar Allen, his pastor, assisted by Rev. R. D. Bennett, of the Methodist church, after which his remains were taken in charge by the local tent of Maccabees and laid to rest in Oakwood cemetery near many he loved in life.

A host of relatives and friends in Hartford and Ohio county, and a large connection in Luce township, Ind., regret his untimely death.

SMALL CITIZENS ARE FOR PREPAREDNESS

Five-Year-Olds Join Health Crusaders—National Legion Numbers 100,000.

New York, Sept. 8.—American preparedness on an organized basis has almost included the country's infant citizens with the development of the National Legion of Modern Health Crusaders into a permanent body. This army of youngsters already numbers 100,000 of both sexes, ranging from five to sixteen years of age. By the end of the present school year many times that number are expected to be recruited into the ranks from the 20,000,000 boys and girls of school age in the United States.

The plan was suggested originally by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis as a temporary local feature of its fall Red Cross Seal campaign. Believing, however, that the very foundation of efficient national preparedness lies in insuring the health of the children and that the best way to do this is by forming health habits and self-control through systematic discipline, the Association announces its plan to bend every effort during this school year toward getting the majority of the school children of the country into leagues of Modern Health Crusaders.

Each Health Crusader pledges "to do nothing that may hurt the health of any other person, and to help keep home and town clean," to do at least eighty per cent of the "health chores," or to sell at least ten Red Cross Seals for the anti-tuberculosis fund, and, in general, to obey the crusaders' health rules.

The "chores" number eight, including washing the hands before each meal; drinking a glass of water before each meal and before going to bed; brushing the teeth in the morning and evening; taking ten or more deep breaths of fresh air each day; playing outdoors or with windows open more than thirty minutes each day; staying in bed ten hours or more each night and keeping bedroom windows open; sitting and standing straight, eating slowly and attending to each bodily need at a regular time; frequent and regular bathing.

These chores are charted on weekly record cards that are filled out by the parents, and on the basis of the percentage standing thus earned periodical honors and titles such as Squire and Knight with accompanying medals are awarded. The title of Knight Banneret, accompanied by a gold pin, is the highest rank.

Some of the special programmes of work suggested for Health Crusaders, in addition to selling Red Cross Seals, are fly and mosquito campaigns, baby welfare work, clean-up week, food protection, and first aid work.

With the extension of the local leagues of Modern Health Crusaders in every school of the country as is planned, the United States will have machinery for an unbroken chain of health preparedness from five to thirty-one years. Between sixteen and conscription age are such organizations as the Camp Fire Girls, the Boy Scouts, the United States Boys' Working Reserve, and other military companies.

WANTED—A MAN.

Wanted, a man in every state, county, city, village and hamlet in the coming bewildering reconstruction days following the greatest war in history.

Wanted, a man with a soul; who will not yield to petty compromise; who has the courage to conviction; whom the spoils of wealth and position cannot buy; whom lust of office cannot warp from the standards of right, justice, humanity.

Wanted, a man who can keep an appointment and a promise.

Wanted, a man with a keen mind, a broad intellect, a cultured soul; who is bigger than his job; who can think quickly, act promptly, dare the impossible; who can guide men in the perplexing, hazardous paths of social readjustment.

Wanted, a man overflowing with vigor, health, life; who does not violate nature's laws; whose body can stand the strain of concentrated civilization; who can endure months of strain, and wake every day to find his brain clear, ready.

Wanted, a man who can mix with men; who can "walk with Kings nor lose the common touch;" who can live with lesser men and be at home; who has broad sympathies with common folks; who can guide and inspire to juster ideals and higher living.

Wanted, an all-round man, a broad man, who is educated all over; who prefers worth to money; who hates sham; who loves the beautiful; who can make the theoretical practical;

whose soul is not stunted; who has a conscience, a heart.

Wanted, a good man.

Wanted, in thousands of banks, manufacturing, attorneys' offices, political halls, editorial chairs, pulpits, colleges and universities, a man who can see aright, lead aright, and do the big things that dwarfed men cannot touch.

Wanted, a man!

$10,000 INSURANCE FAVORED BY WILSON

Washington.—In a letter addressed to Representative William C. Adamson, Chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, made public here, President Wilson urges that the $10,000 limit of insurance for officers and enlisted men be restored to the Administration's War Insurance Bill. He says in part:

"May I not express to you and through you to the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce of the House, my sincere gratification at the favorable report the committee has just made on the bill granting family allowances, indemnities and life insurance for the officers and enlisted men of the army and navy and the hope that the proposed measure may receive the prompt approval of the Congress?"

"I observe with regret that the limit of life insurance available to the officers and men in the service has been reduced from $10,000 to $5,000. I earnestly hope that the $10,000 limit may be restored."

COMPETITIVE EXHIBITS FOR ALFALFA GROWERS

Retain Your Prize Alfalfa From This Fall's Cutting For Farmers' Week.

The Kentucky Alfalfa Growers' Association is planning to have an exhibit of alfalfa and alfalfa products in connection with its next annual convention which meets at Lexington next January during "Farmers' Week" at the Agricultural College.

Handsome prizes will be offered for the best 5-inch bundle of alfalfa cut from a field a year or more old and also for the best 3-inch bundle of alfalfa sown this summer. Such a sample will, of course, have to be cut just before frost.

It is possible also that classes will be opened for the best bale of alfalfa, but this has not yet been decided upon.

Current prices of wheat bran, cottonseed meal, oil meal, tankage, and, in fact, all stock feeds that bear a high percentage of protein are already so excessive that alfalfa seems to be coming into greater favor than ever before, on account of its high feeding value and its wide range of usefulness. It can be fed to good advantage to all classes of live stock, even to swine and poultry.

In spite of the great demand for increased acreage of wheat and other crops, the indications are that a greater acreage of new alfalfa is being sown this summer than ever before.

TAX COLLECTIONS IN STATE OF KENTUCKY MOUNT HIGH

Washington.—With her internal revenue receipts for the last fiscal year—the year that ended June 30, 1917—aggregating $47,117,694.28, Kentucky made a fine showing, as compared to the record of the other states and territories, in assisting in contributing to the support of the federal government. This is indicated by the preliminary report of the commissioner of internal revenue, made public here. The sum was made up in this manner: Individual income tax collections, $393,271.63; corporation income tax collections, $1,252,485.65 and ordinary taxes including emergency and other revenue collections, $45,471,937.10. Use the following mixture as a fly dope: 2 gallons crude petroleum, costing 10 to 15 cents per gallon; 1 gallon crude carbolic acid, costing about 65 cents per gallon; 1 gallon fish oil, costing about 75 cents per gallon. Apply to stock once a day with a 50-cent hand sprayer.

NATION AND ALLIES HONOR SELECTED MEN

Washington Cheers Itself Hoarse As President Marches In Great Parade.

Washington.—The President and Congress of the United States and the allied nations, thru their diplomatic representatives, joined in paying honor to the men selected from the District of Columbia for service in America's national army raised for the battle for democracy.

Washington, long used to glittering processions, to the glare and noise of inaugurations, opened its eyes and cheered itself hoarse at the spectacle. For two hours, while in other cities throut the Nation other thousands moved over the first part of the long road that may lead to French battlefields, Pennsylvania Avenue heard the tramp of marching men, the mingle of spurs and the rumble of artillery.

About 26,000 men, women and children passed a reviewing stand before the White House where the President and his guests watched the parade. More than half of the long line was in uniform.

From the corner of Fifteenth street where Pennsylvania Avenue turns around the Treasury, the long mile to the foot of Capitol Hill was one stream of flags in the breeze and sparkling under a cloudless September sky. The President and those in the stand with him were kept at salute continually. No one of the dozens of officers of foreign armies and navies overlooked the tribute due the emblem of the great republic that has lined up on their side to make the world safe for the principles on which it was founded.

Wilson Heads Parade.

President Wilson himself, eyes to the front stepping out like a freshly trained recruit, marched at the head of the long line surrounded by a committee of citizens which arranged the parade. Behind him in unbroken ranks came most of the members of the Senate and House, in such a tribute as they probably never have given on any occasion in the long years since this country became a Nation.

When he reached the White House, the President left the ranks and took his place in the stand by Mrs. Wilson. It was the second time he had gone aloft over Pennsylvania Avenue. The first was when he led the preparedness parade before the United States went to war. Most of the members of the Cabinet, the Japanese Mission, Ambassadors Spring-Rice, of Great Britain, Jesserand, of France; Minister Calderon, of Bolivia, and dozens of officers in uniforms of the armies of the nations that are fighting Germany were in the stand with them. All stood for the two hours with eyes steady on the spectacle. The President sat grim and unsmiling most of the time, watching intently while all trappings of war came by.

Seventy Senators in Line.

At the head of the Senate division came Senators Nelson and Warren, of the Union army, and Martin and Bankhead, who fought on the side of the Gray in the Civil War, and with them marched Senators Chamberlain, chairman of the Military Committee, and Lodge, ranking Republican of the Naval Committee. There were seventy Senators in line and only a few were absent who were not sick or unable to make the long trip.

The House turned out hundreds of its membership, headed by Speaker Clark and "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

TEAR KAISER OUT OF SPELLING BOOK

Chicago School Children Perform Ceremony With Unusual Zeal.

Chicago.—The school children of Chicago did their "bit" here. They strated the Kaiser by tearing from their spelling books the page telling what a great man he is—or was, for from now on they are to think of him in the past, if at all. The order to tear out the page was issued some time ago by the School Board and was passed along to-day at all of the 200 schools of the city. Some of the teachers had to keep watch to prevent the "war activities" of their charge from destroying the whole book.

CAN IF THEY WILL.

A week or so ago we told our readers that if every road overseer would try to make the section of road over which he was boss, just a little better than those joining him on either end, we could have good roads in Ohio county. We also said that if each land owner would see to it that the section of road that borders his property was properly worked and put in shape we would also have good roads.
The following notice from the Cadiz Record to show you just what the farmers can do in the matter of building roads if they will. It was hinted that the farmers of Trigg county would lose their rural free delivery service if the roads were not made passable, so they got busy says
the Record:

"When the Trigg County Development Association 'hinted' to the road overseers that the conditions of the roads were such that there was danger of losing 'special delivery,' they sent out a 'hurried call' and the chance that has been made in our thoroughfares has been made. The farmers can, if they will, have good roads in every section. There should be no road 'slackers,' but every man should help."

It looks hard for a man to have to put up for the misdoings of another, especially so if the crime for which he has to pay was committed, partially at least, under the regime of another. But this is what Mr. Barlow, Postmaster General, says that Postmaster Laswell, of Owensboro, will have to do in the case of Chas.
Barbour, a post-office employee, who defaulted in the sum of $7,300. It seems that the postoffice of Barbour had been going on for three or four years, but Mr. Laswell has to be "put up" for the whole thing. Barbour was under a bond of only $1,000 and Mr. Laswell will have to make good $6,300—amounting to nearly two years' salary.

Last Thursday as the editor was on his way home to lunch, he, as well as most everyone in town, heard the whistle of a train, and the thought at once came to us that the "moguls" of the road had read what we had to say in our paper the day before of the service on our railroad (or had heard that Editor Tinsley was going to say something relative to same in the Republican the next day) and had immediately put on a through passenger train, but as we neared the depot, to our disappointment, we found it only an inspection train of officials who were going over the road to see how many of the rails had rusted in two from non-use.

Secretary Houston and Herbert Hoover, the food administrator, fear a shortage of meat animals in this country unless measures are taken to stimulate production. According to information obtained at a meeting of live-stock raisers in Washington, recently, it is clear that the decrease in food animals abroad can only be measured by the tens of millions.
They say we are going to be called upon to supply increasingly large quantities of meat products to Europe and also breeding animals.

The Children's Aid Society of Philadelphia, will prevent "slackers" from adopting children. They are to be congratulated, for it is had enough for a woman to have to be tied up for life with "slackers," but it would be a whole lot worse for a child to have to call a cuss "papa" who adopted it just to avoid the draft.

It is estimated that there were 120,000,000 gallons of whiskey in bond in Kentucky when the manufacture of distilled spirits ceased the latter part of last week. So there is enough left in old Kentucky to sus-tain her reputation for mint juleps for quite awhile, provided the mint holds out.

"Soldier killed by train;" "soldier killed by auto;" "soldier accidentally shot and killed;"—these are the headlines one sees in the papers most every day, and the business of soldiering here in the U. S. is almost as hazardous as fighting on the European front.

Some of the world's champion prize-fighters have said that there was no man living that could "lick" old John Barleycorn, but we know one man who hit him such a jolt that he is today groggy, and that man is Uncle Sam.

A Chicago dispatch says that Wm.
Hale Thompson, Mayor (mayor spelled with a lower case m) of that city was hanged in effigy. If all such "hows" as he were hanged in reality
the country would be better off.

Your Uncle Sam is the Bell as well as the Bear in the wheat market now—he being the "whole cheese" since President Wilson fixed a minimum of $2.25 per bushel on that farm product.

the local exemption board for examination.

The board issued calls for sixty per cent until the 15th, had been examined. Of the sixty, called for examination Monday, 57 appeared. Of the 57 examined, 19 failed to pass, 37 passed and claimed exemption and 4 claimed no exemption. Up to press hour yesterday, of the sixty called, 10 failed, 34 passed and claim-

TWO "LAL-LA-PALOOSES"

SNAKE STORIES

Two snake stories, the first in many months, appear in today's paper. Modoc, in his Merrihue letter, tells an interesting snake yarn, while the following was picked up Monday from a Ravvie gentleman whose reputation for veracity can not questioned.

According to this gentleman, Nat Bickett, while moving a pile of lumber which had been stacked near the Rolling Fork for some time, found two large copperhead snakes. Although he has a gameleg as the result of a fall sustained two years ago, Mr. Bickett did not beat a hasty retreat but grabbed a stick and killed both reptiles. He had hardly finished killing the two snakes when suddenly another large snake and ten smaller ones appeared from somewhere, and, according to the story, resented Mr. Bickett's interference.
The latter never faltered and in a few minutes had killed all thirteen snakes. Mr. Bickett immediately after killing the reptiles showed them to Bernard Leak and his two sons, Werner and Newman, who were only a short distance away, and if further proof is wanted of his snake-killing ability it can be obtained by referring to any of these gentlemen.

Merrihue has been without a snake story so far this summer, but one came to the front last week. Mr.
Fletcher Gabehart and Mr. Floyd
Caulk had made a contract with Mr.
George Sapp to keep the squirrels out of his corn field, and it was while shooting the squirrels that they ran upon a monster rattler. Hastily procuring a long pole, they dispatched his snakeship. When the snake made a peculiar sound with its rattles, nine small rattlers gathered around the old one and showed more fight than a nest of yellow jackets.
They also killed the little snakes. The old one had sixteen rattles and was four feet two inches long. Gabehart and Caulk gave up their job. They said they would rather serve a term in Flanders.—Lebanon Enterprise.

TWIN CANTALOUPE OF
THE SIAMESE VARIETY

It looks as if old "Mother Nature" is trying to outdo herself in the way of producing things during these war times—especially so in the line of foodstuffs and edibles.

Friday Mr. Andy Rowan, of Route cantaloupes, perfect in shape and of fine flavor, that grew from one blossom and stem. The melons were joined together by a thin "striffing," and were unusually large.

27, 1902, that being the date which

1 1/4-LB. TOMATO.

One of the largest tomatoes we've seen this year was brought to The Herald office by Vernie Brown, who grew them on the place of John Thomas, near town.

The vegetable weighed one pound and three-quarters, and was of good shape—not irregular like most unusually large tomatoes.

Hartford Readers Can No Longer

The facts are now confirmed.
Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of great deal of good whenever I have had occasion to use them. Several times I have suffered from pains that I know were caused from weak kidneys. At these times I have got Doan's Kidney Pills and have used them as directed. They have never failed to cure the attack." (State-

On November 15, 1916, Mr. King

Military Training

To further do my "bit" for my country and some good, worthy boys, I'm going to give $50 toward the military training of each of 10 more boys who attend the Columbia Military Academy, of Columbia, Tenn., on my recommendation. I have already given up one of my partners to my country's service. He goes as a commissioned officer because of the thorough training he received in this school.

Your boy can be one of these ten if he is between the ages of 14 and 19 and has passed the Seventh Grade in the Public School. He is certain to have to see military service. In this school he will be fitted for a commissioned officer, with the good pay and chances of promotion of an officer.

He will be under the supervision and instruction of such noted officers as Mr. Ira Landrith, Col. G. G. Harvey and others of national note. His board and tuition for the first year will be only $470. I pay $50 of that. Books, clothing, etc., should not exceed $75 or $80. Write me at once, giving age, schooling and two references, and I will forward catalogue and fuller particulars. THOMAS E. BASHAM, Pres-

Tobacco will evidently bring good prices this year, as a farmer told us a few days ago that he had already been offered $12 per hundred from the ground up for his 1917 crop. This sounds like an awfully big price, but we believe farmers will get considerably higher prices than this for their tobacco.

The Pie Supper that was to have been held at Goshen schoolhouse last Saturday night was postponed on account of the death of Mr. Dee Luce, but will be held next Saturday night, Sept. 15th, instead. All are invited to come, enjoy the evening and contribute to the worthy cause—that of education.

Nothing will be left undone to make the Ohio County Fair this year one of the most enjoyable as well as one of the most profitable fairs ever held in Ohio county. GARDNERS URGED TO SAVE SEED BY DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

A leaflet recently issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture urges gardeners to save seed from their vegetables, as follows:

While the practice of saving seed in the home garden cannot be generally recommended because of the difficulty in keeping stocks pure, it is quite feasible to save seed of many vegetables for one or two seasons. After that, the stocks should be renewed. At the present time the United States Department of Agriculture urges every gardener who has the facilities to do so to save seed for next year's planting. If this is done it will assist in the return to normal conditions, not only in the supply of vegetable seed, but also in the price to the gardener.

Save Seed from the Best Plants.
There is but one general principle underlying the production of good vegetable seed; that is, save from the best plants.

Beans.—The saving of beans for seed is a relatively simple matter. Beans are self-fertile, so there is no danger of mixing, but care should be taken to pick out a few of the best plants and save only such pods as get too old to eat. Selecting good plants with pods corresponding to the sort planted and save all pods. When ripe and dry, shell the beans and, anywhere south of Philadelphia, treat them with carbon bisulphide to kill weevils. The insects are in the beans at the time of harvesting and can be killed by placing the shelled beans in a tight box within which is a shallow saucer into which a little carbon bisulphide has been poured. Close the box as soon as the bisulphide is poured and keep it shut and away from flame for a few hours. Carbon bisulphide is very inflammable. North of Philadelphia, the carbon bisulphide treatment is less essential.

Peas.—Save seed from the best plants and treat as instructed for beans. It is important to select seed from plants showing the desired characters; for example, if seed is wanted of an early sort, save seed from plants maturing first usable pods. Resist the temptation to put these on the table. The earliest peas will tend to yield an earlier crop the next year than those from the same row that ripen last. This principle also applies to other qualities. If the pea is a dwarf, save the pods from the most dwarfed and not from the tallest plants in the row.

Corn.—Sweet corn is very sensitive to cold and wet. The ears should be allowed to ripen fully on the stalk, if that is possible, before frost and should be cured without exposure even to a light frost. When early corn is grown, as the Golden Bantam, save the earliest ears for seed. In all cases study the characters of the variety grown and select those plants that come nearest the ideal for the variety. Where the corn worm is troublesome, it may be worth while to pull the husks open a little when the corn is partly grown, so as to remove the worms. The husks can then be turned back over the tip of the ear and the ear left to ripen. When the selected ears are picked, turn back the husks, tie them up, and hang them from nails in an attic or barn where there will be a free circulation of air. A few ears will usually yield seed enough for the average home garden.

Vine Seeds of all Kinds.—Cucumber, muskmelon, watermelon and squash seeds are so easily saved and so little needed by the small planter that there is no reason, save the bother of it, why every one should not save his own seed this year. Here, again, it is important that the best fruits be selected according to the kinds that are being grown. Allow the selected fruits to ripen, cut them open, scoop the seed out into a dish, and wash thoroughly with water. When reasonable clean, spread on a paper to dry. Seed growers commonly allow the pulp and seeds to ferment in order to clean the seed, but this is done because it takes too much time to scrape out each fruit. When saving the seed from one or two fruits, which will usually give seed enough for a small garden, the seed can be scooped up nearly clean and the fermenting process is unnecessary.

Tomato, Eggplant, Pepper, etc.—What has been said of vine seeds applies equally to these fruits. Tomato seed may be scooped out of ripe tomato as well as possible and the mass shaken up with water; allow to settle, and then the water, carrying what pulp it will, carefully pour off. This will usually get rid of all the pulp. Eggplant and pepper seeds are naturally dry and easy to get out.

Lettuce, Radish, Spinach, etc.—These annuals seed abundantly, and here again, selection is important. If you are growing a head lettuce, save the plants making the best head; do not use the left-overs that have failed to make good, as then the seed will probably produce still less desirable plants the next year. If the heads become quite hard, like a cabbage, it may be necessary to cut the head with a knife. Make two cuts across the top of the head at right angles. If the head is not hard this will not be necessary, as the seed stalk will be able to get through unaided. One lettuce plant will usually make more seed than there is in a 5-cent packet, so not many plants will be needed. The seed ripens unevenly, and when the first seed gets ripe the plant may be shaken over a pan or a paper and the seed collected. When many plants are left to seed, they may be cut shortly after the first seeds are ripe and laid on sheets to ripen.

Spinach seed does not shatter as badly as lettuce. The stalks should be left quite ripe and when dry be beaten over a sheet so as to knock the seed off.

The Extension Department of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, will give directions upon application as to the most satisfactory means of saving any seeds, as is urged by the government.

FARMER'S BIG PRICE GETS $27,500 FINE

Spalding, England.—Geo. Thompson, a Lincolnshire farmer, was fined $27,500 for selling potatoes above the maximum prices fixed by the Food Controller.

Thompson sold his potatoes at an average of $75 a ton, while the price fixed by the Controller was $46.50. There were fifty-five charges against Thompson, to which he pleaded guilty, and he was fined $500 on each charge, in addition to $1,250 costs.

Thompson sold more than 1,000 tons of potatoes above the legal price.

TO THE FARMERS OF KENTUCKY

The Agricultural Department at Washington, D. C., is calling upon the Commissioners of Agriculture and other agricultural forces throughout the United States, earnestly pleading with them to use their influence toward increasing the acreage of wheat sown this fall, and since it is most imperative that Kentucky should increase her 1917 acreage sown. I beg of each land owner in this Commonwealth to see that his fall sowing is increased fully 25 per cent in acreage. Not only is this appeal made to the farmer in the nature of a "war appeal" and a patriotic effort, but it is a duty each farmer owes to his own household to produce an adequate supply of the necessity of life for the sustenance of that family, and under the existing war condition, his obligations toward helping feed our Allies should be just as paramount and just as eagerly performed as is the debt and duty he owes to his own family. Kentucky for the past few years has been producing annually around eight million bushels of wheat, and it is estimated that ten million bushels of wheat are consumed each year by the people of this Commonwealth. Therefore, in order to do our "mite" during this serious crisis, I beg of the Kentucky people to decrease the supply of wheat usually consumed at least two million bushels, and to the farmers of this State to do their utmost in producing twelve million bushels in 1918, which will give our Allies the magnificent amount of four million bushels, and which is nothing more than we should do for those brave warriors who are today fighting the battle for the world's freedom. Do not let the high price of seed wheat influence or prevent you from sowing an increased acreage, or doubt not for a minute but that the growing of wheat will be a profitable as well as a patriotic effort, even if the war were to close tomorrow. I cannot believe that the farmers of this State fully realize the seriousness of the situation, and I therefore call upon them and assure them that every earnest citizen is throbbing, and most crying aloud for a greater increased production of this staple product. Mr. Farmer, won't you please do your part?

MAT S. COHEN,

Commissioner of Agriculture.

LAWYERS SHOUT THEIR APPROVAL OF WAR

Enthusiastic Scene Enacted As Loyalty and Aid is Pledged United States.

Saratoga Springs.—The American Bar Association, at the opening of its annual meeting here, deferred all other business until it had adopted by a unanimous vote resolutions expressing approval of vigorous prosecution of the war, and set in motion plans designed to marshal to the aid of the country lawyers who are members of national, State or local associations.

The resolutions, which were offered by Elihu Root, were adopted amid scenes of enthusiasm characterized by many members as surpassing any ever enacted at a similar meeting. After the reading of each paragraph the speaker was compelled to pause while members leaped to their feet, swung their hats and cheered.

The association recorded its absolute and unqualified loyalty to the Government, expressed its belief that the future freedom and security of the country depends on the defeat of Germany, urged the most vigorous possible prosecution of the war, indorsed the plan to send American troops, however raised, to Europe, and condemned as pro-German all attempts in and out of Congress to hinder and embarrass the carrying on of the war "until whatever cover of pacifism or technicality such attempts are made." Mr. Root prefaced the resolutions with the assertion that the lawyers should be more deeply interested in the outcome of the war than members of any other profession, because the conflict is between those holding radically opposed views on the law of government.

Silo filling comes this month. Arrange ahead of time for cutter, engine, teams and hands. Have two sets of sharp knives ready. Tighten every nut and bolt and have the cutting box in perfect order. This will prevent loss of time when silo filling begins.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

FIVE AMERICANS ARE NOW TEUTON CAPTIVES

Captain and Four Men Of Sunken Campana, in German Camp.

Washington.—Capt. Albert Oliver, of the American tank steamer Campana, and four of the five members of the naval gun crew, who were taken prisoner when their ship was captured and sunk August 6 by a German submarine, are in a prison camp at Brandenburg, Prussia, the American Red Cross was advised today by cable from Geneva.

The message made no mention of seaman Albert Miller, the other prisoner, and an inquiry has been called to Geneva to learn his fate.

The four gunners held by the Germans are James Delaney, chief gunners' mate in charge of the gun crew; Ray Roop, boatswain's mate; Charles Loran Kline, gunners' mate, and Fred Stephen Jacob, a seaman. They, with Miller, were the first American naval men to be taken prisoner since war was declared on Germany.

It had been feared that they and Captain Oliver had been lost, as a French cruiser, which picked up the remainder of the tanker's crew, reported that a U-boat had been sent down that day by another French warship near where the Campana was sunk.

This is the time of year when flies are at their worst.

FIGHT RESULTS IN DEATH OF MINISTER

Wife Charged With Cutting Throat Of Clergyman When Latter Has Husband Down.

Smithland, Ky.—Jeff Fleming, 20 years old, and his wife, Lizzie, aged 18, were jointly indicted here accused of having slain the Rev. T. Butler at the latter's home in this city July 28, last.

According to the accused couple, Butler and Fleming engaged in an argument and a fist-fight followed. Later the men clinched and as they fell to the floor Butler was on top of his antagonist. At this juncture, it is alleged, Mrs. Fleming entered the room and hearing her husband scream that he was being killed secured a knife and cut the preacher's throat. He died instantly.

Mrs. Fleming is to become a mother in a few weeks. The trial has been set for Friday.

Alfalfa should be sown about the middle of August. There is no use in sowing it unless a good seed bed has been prepared and all necessary preparation for the crop made, such as liming, fertilizing, etc.

Winter turf oats and barley should be planted early this month. Many farmers consider barley more profitable than wheat. It will pay to try a few acres.

The silo should be completed at once so that the concrete will have time to set before the silo is filled.

Green corn can supplement short grass during this month.

UNCLE SAM IS ONLY BUYER OF WHEAT

Chicago.—There was just one buyer in the Chicago wheat market last week and he didn't even visit the Board of Trade. He was Uncle Sam, and he had an office in the Otis Building, two blocks from the board.

There was one basic price, $2.20, fixed by President Wilson. The method pursued was very simple. The man who received the wheat had it placed in an elevator, obtained a receipt from the elevator, took his receipt to the Otis Building and got his money.

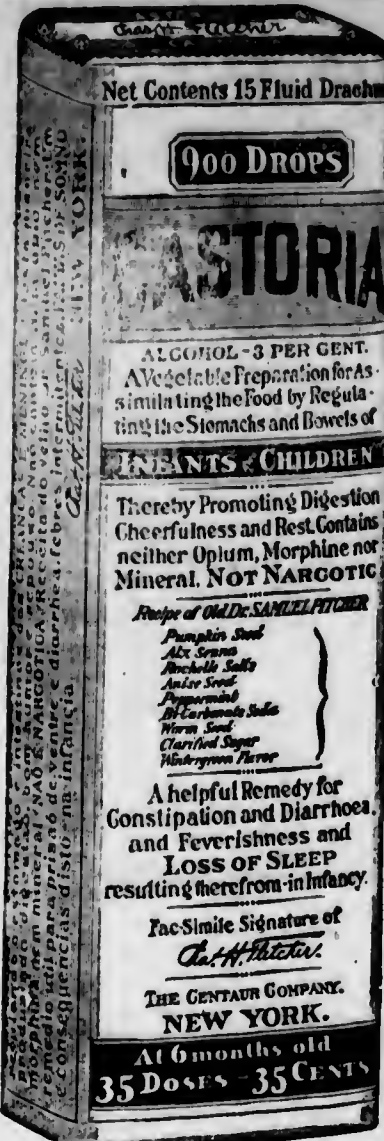

Thru a misunderstanding a little spot wheat sold at slightly above the Government basis, but the local representative of the food administrator issued a warning that there must be no repetition of the offense.

Man Who Figured in Mutilation Case Asks Choate Pardon.

Frankfort, Ky.—A delegation from Mayfield and Hickman called on Governor Stanley last week with a petition for the pardon of B. E. Choate, who is serving a three-year penitentiary term for cutting and wounding Henry Campbell. The petition for the pardon is signed by Campbell, A. L. Brand, of Mayfield, and Julian Choate, of Hickman, were in the delegation.

Don't put corn in the silo too green. It is ready for the silo ten days or two weeks before it is ripe enough for the shock.

LONG LANCE, CHEROKEE INDIAN, A HEROIC FIGHTER AT VIMY RIDGE

To go through the terrible battle of Vimy Ridge unscratched and emerge the only surviving officer of his rank in his battalion and then be considered tough luck by any warrior. But Lieut. Sylvester Long Lance of the "Princess Pat's" accepted the freak of fate without a whimper, says the Boston Globe.

For one reason because he is a full-blooded American Indian of the fighting Cherokee blood; and for another because his life, short as it has been, has accustomed him to take things as they come.

Long Lance's family belongs to what are known as the Eastern Cherokees, and he was born on the old estate of Kit Carson, in the wild recesses of Fredell Co., N. C. He inherited a marvelous physique; all his ancestors were of the highest physical type and very long-lived. His father, mother and three of his grandparents are still living. One great-grandfather lived to be 112 years old and another to be 113.

When Long Lance was 13 years old he left home with a party of Cherokees to travel with a Wild West show. He did trick riding and showed surprising daring for his age. The life agreed with him, and at 15 he was so big and strong that he decided to become a professional boxer, having more than once demonstrated that he was handy with his fists and could put it all over the Wild West roustabouts.

Under the management of Jimmie Barry, John L. Sullivan's old sparring partner, a fight was arranged for him with Ed Nolan, who had won some reputation. The bout came off at Tampa, Fla. Long Lance won, became a "meeter of all comers," and was quite able to hold his own.

But a desire for education was growing up in him. He returned home and persuaded his parents to let him enter the Carlisle Indian School. In his second year there he made the track and cross country team and the football squad, and on three successive occasions defeated the great athlete Jim Thorpe in the three-mile run.

But not all Long Lance's energies went to athletics. He had marked natural intelligence and much ambition. He stood high in his classes at all times and won more than one prize, among them, in 1911, the second prize for the National Tuberculosis Essay. He also won at Carlisle a reputation which still lingers—for clean living, clean speech and a beautiful courtesy of manner.

He had his own way to make, and his summers while he was at Carlisle were spent as a clerk in the railroad office at Tyrone, Penn., where he earned the money which enabled him to remain at school.

When he was graduated from Carlisle he was first lieutenant in the Cadet Corps, president of the Literary Society, member of the debating team, vice president of the school government, president of the Y. M. C. A., treasurer of the senior class, valedictorian and honor graduate. Incidentally, he was sole clarinet player in the school band, a job composer and job pressman in the school printing plant, and a few other things.

Civilian College Too Dull. Also, this thirst for education was not by any means assuaged, and he entered the preparatory school for Dickinson College.

But one year at a civilian institution was enough for him, and 1913 found him entered at St. John's Military Academy at Manlius, N. Y.,

SIMMONS.

(Too late for last week.)

Quite a crowd from here attended the picnic at Williams Mines Monday.

Rev. Garter, of Louisville, preached at the Episcopal church here Thursday night.

Mr. M. F. Chumley went to Terre Haute, Ind., Monday to see his brother, returning Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Southard went to Hartford Monday on business.

Mrs. C. M. Mallow went to Chicago last week to meet her son, Joe Hendrie, who was returning from Buenos Aires, Argentina, having been there three years representing the International Harvester Co. Mrs. Mallow, after visiting some other relatives there, returned Friday.

Mr. Willie Tucker returned last week from Akron, Ohio, where he has been employed by the Goodrich Rubber Co.

Misses Mattie and Mira Bennett, of Illinois, are visiting their uncle, Mr. Ed Kirtley, and family, this week.

Mrs. S. E. Bennett and Guy E.

from which he graduated two years later. While there he made the highest yearly mark in the senior class and won a medal for efficiency in his studies.

He also annexed a silver loving cup for winning the school spelling bee, was a member of most of the athletic teams and still holds the school's half-mile record. His fellows voted him the best all-round developed student, physically, in the school.

At St. John's, as at Carlisle, his summers went in earning a living and accumulating money for more school. One season he posed for a moving picture company in Wild West lays. The next, he became clarinetist in a military band that toured the Chautauque circuit.

Whatever chance came to hand he seized, for his ambition had completely stripped him of any false shame or petty pride. The impulse which had taken him from the circus and the prize ring—the fixed purpose to educate himself and realize all his possibilities—ruled him wholly.

The Glorious Climax.

Then came a sudden and dazzling honor. In the spring of 1915 President Wilson, whose attention had been called to this plucky and persistent Indian lad more than a year before, and who had been watching him without his knowledge, surprised him by bestowing on him one of the precious Presidential appointments to West Point.

But Long Lance never came to join his class at West Point. Instead, he dropped out of sight, and so remained until last winter, when one of his old teachers at Carlisle was surprised at receiving a postcard, dated somewhere in France, and sent by First Lieutenant S. C. Long Lance of the crack Princess Pat's Battalion.

And now, to a friend in New York has come another letter dated June 1, which shows that Long Lance's luck is still with him.

"I am in a field hospital," it says, "convalescing from a wound in the head, received a couple of weeks ago. Nothing serious; only a piece of shrapnel in the back part of the head and a broken nose—the latter sustained in falling on my face. I presume."

"I came through the April 9 storm (Vimy Ridge) without a scratch. Being the only officer of my rank left in my company, only to get hit a month later on one of the quietest days we have had lately. Such is war!"

Glad to Be out of Trenches. "Any way," he goes on, "I find the open warfare, which has ensued since we took Vimy Ridge, is much more interesting and endurable than the trench stuff that we had to tolerate all winter. We are able to see right behind 'Fritz's' lines now, whereas during the winter, a few yards of No. Man's Land and the German front line was the visual limit from our trenches."

"I am enjoying the green trees and sunny hill-sides surrounding the hospital here, after so many dreary months in the drab trenches. One would hardly know that there was war on if it were not for the distant rumble of the 'heavies' and the drone of battle planes overhead."

"We have 'Fritz' on the run now, and we are holding all the truce cards as far as I can see from observations here. 'Fritz' personally, is getting pretty well 'fed up' with war. It is not infrequent that he voluntarily comes over and surrenders—when he gets a chance to sneak from his own lines."

Robertson, Democratic candidate for Sheriff and Clerk respectively were in the camp last week shaking hands with the boys.

Mr. A. T. Davis and family visited their daughter, Mrs. Effie Peach, in Louisville, last week.

Messrs. R. C. Vance, J. D. Hill, B. B. Moore and Jim Moore went to Central City Saturday, on business.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Parker and son David, visited Mr. Ellis Snider and family, at Beaver Dam, from Saturday until Monday.

How Do You Tackle Your Work?

How do you tackle your work each day?

Are you scared of the job you find?

Do you grapple the task that comes your way

With a confident, easy mind?

Do you stand right up to the work ahead

Or fearfully pause to view it?

Do you start to toil with a sense of dread

Or feel that you're going to do it?

You can do as much as you think you can,

But you'll never accomplish more;

If you're afraid of yourself, young man,

There's little for you in store.

For failure comes from the inside first;

It's there if we only knew it;

And you can win, though you face the worst,

If you feel that you're going to do it!

Success! It's found in the soul of you,

And not in the real of luck!

The world will furnish the work to do,

But you must provide for pluck.

You can do whatever you think you can,

It's all in the way you view it;

It's all in the start that you make young man,

You must feel that you're going to do it.

How do you tackle your work each day?

With confidence clear, or dread?

What to yourself do you stop and say

When a new task lies ahead?

What is the thought that is in your mind?

Is fear ever running through it?

If so, tackle the next you find

By thinking you're going to do it.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

All About You and Your Neighbors

BEAVER DAM.

Marion Taylor shipped a carload of hogs and cattle last week. He bought 14 hogs from Mr. W. A. Casebier, paying him $592.18 for same. The Equity shipped a carload of hogs and cattle Saturday. Thus high prices are taking all the stock out of the country. Money was never more plentiful with farmers of the county than at present. Mr. J. H. Barnes tells us that the Beaver Dam Deposit Bank has a hundred thousand dollars more in it than it had on deposit a year ago. The farmers are facing their golden opportunity. There never has been a better season to prepare wheat ground and the price of wheat fixed at $2.00 per bushel for the 1918 crop with the present high prices for the bumper crop of corn, the farmers will certainly come into their own another year.

Rev. A. B. Gardner, of Dawson Springs, was in town a day last week on his way to fill his appointment at Morgantown. Rev. Powell, of Louisville, was also in town. He was going to Morgantown to investigate the Baptist church building to see how much State aid they would need.

Miss Era Gardner, of Dawson Springs, spent the week-end in town visiting friends and stopping with Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Flenor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Flenor returned from Hopkinsville last week from a visit to their son, Dr. Oscar Flenor, and wife.

Mr. Alva Taylor, of Central City, was in town Sunday visiting his brother, Mr. C. M. Taylor.

Mr. Fred Taylor, of Princeton, Ky., was in town a day last week on business.

Miss Geneva Taylor left this morning for college at Peoria, Ill.

Mrs. S. D. Taylor called to see us and gave us a dollar for The Herald. Mrs. Taylor is a Republican but is in love with the news that The Herald contains.

OLATON.

Sept. 9.—Olaton still has the oil fever. A large crew of men have been prospecting and new ones coming in every week. Some of the land owners are so excited that they want almost the value of the land for leases of a few years. Land that has been selling for $15 and $16 per acre cannot now be bought for less than $50 or $75 per acre. The oil men are spending lots of money around Olaton and that makes business good for our merchants.

We have a new blacksmith. He is working in the John Godsey shop. Mr. Charlie Ray Daniel went to Dyersburg, Tenn., to bid his parents farewell, as he has enlisted in the army and will likely go to the front in Europe.

Rev. Bandy, of Fordville, preached at the Methodist church yesterday.

I would gladly accept the invitation of Mr. S. P. Taylor, of DeKalb, Tex., to come out and eat watermelons with him if he will furnish me with a round-trip ticket. Seventy-pound watermelons certainly would be a sight to us Kentuckians.

Pigs--Patriotism and Profit

The War has placed a big responsibility on the American pork producer.

Quoting President Wilson, "Without abundant food, alike for the Armies and the people now at war, the whole great enterprise upon which we have embarked will break down and fail."

The program of our Government is a far-reaching one. Adequate food production is the most important of all phases of the work so far undertaken. The World's food reserve is low. The FARMER is the food producer, so it is up to him.

We expect to be in constant operation and furnish daily, Liquid Feed sufficient for 20,000 to 25,000 hogs, and Glenmore Dried Grains, as part ration, for 8,000 dairy cattle.

Our feed supplemented with clover, corn fodder, etc., makes pork at less than seven cents per pound, which is now selling on open market at twenty cents, with indications of going higher.

Get busy in raising hogs and encourage others to do so. Call or write us for particulars.

HARTFORD STREET LIGHTS.

Hartford now has street lights. We should have said something about it in our last issue, but in the rush of getting out the paper, overlooked to mention the fact.

Yes, we have street lights, and they are the latest improved type, being the nitrogen light. They add wonderfully to the pleasure of those of us who have to journey in town at night, and the stranger within our gates can go for a walk without fearing that he will step in a hole and break a leg.

But they do put the sale of flashlights "on the bum" 'cept to the fellows who stay out after 12 o'clock.

Laying all juesting, aside—they give our little town a more city appearance, and we are glad we have 'em.

A CABBAGE SNAKE.

You, no doubt, have many times heard of the cabbage snake—but did you ever see one? If you have, you had us hested until last Wednesday morning, when Mr. A. W. Mills, of Route 4, brought one—live and wiggling—to The Herald office.

The snake was discovered by Mrs. Fannie Stewart while making kraut, for her son, Will Stewart, and turned over to Mr. Mills, who brought it to town.

The snake measured a foot and over seven inches long, and was about the size of a broom straw, and exactly the color of cabbage.

We have often heard of the cabbage snake, but this is the first one we have ever seen.
